ABOUT THE RESEARCH & DEVELOPMENT COUNCIL OF NEW JERSEY

For over half a century, the Research and Development Council of New Jersey has been dedicated to cultivating an environment supportive of the advancement of research and development throughout New Jersey. Established in 1962, the Council was created to serve as a unified voice for the three R&D sectors — industry, academia and government — to work with the State to create an environment R&D could thrive in.

Currently chaired by Janssen Pharmaceuticals’ Vice President of Real World Evidence Troy Sarich, Ph.D, the Council's past accomplishments include: developing the Governor’s STEM Scholars, raising the funds for the design and construction of Liberty Science Center, supporting the Science Olympiad student tournament, establishing R&D tax credits for research organizations, and annually awarding scholarships to college students pursuing an education in STEM fields. Recognizing that there is an unrivaled culture of innovation in New Jersey, every year the Council selects pioneering NJ inventions for their contribution to R&D and honors their inventors with the Council’s distinguished Thomas Alva Edison Patent Award. In 2016, the Council selected 13 patent awards, which recognized over 50 inventors who worked on those patents. These inventors were honored at the Council’s 37th Edison Patent Awards Reception & Ceremony. The Council is a nonprofit 501(c)(3) organization whose membership includes representatives from academia, government and industry, including several Fortune 500 companies.
